The Bannock Agency Indians Give Friendly Assurances---Fear of a Revengeful Demonstration.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30, -- General Sherman said last night that he had received no further advices from the Ute country, and that he did not anticipate anything more until the arrival of Special Agent Adams at Los Pinos agency about the 30th instant. In the event of General Adams' failure to cause the surrender of the Indians who are responsible for the murders committed at White River, the troops will then be ordered to proceed in the matter. General Sherman is of the opinion, however, that Chief Ouray, who accompanies General Adams, has sufficient power to cause the arrest and surrender of the murderers.

GROUNDS FOR FRESH FEARS. Inspector Pollock telegraphs to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs from Los Pinos, October 26, via Del Norte 29th, as follows: "Ouray says five lodges of the Muache band of Utes, who had been living on the Dry Cimarron, started about thirty days ago for Southern Ute Agency, When last seen Southern Ute Agency, When last seen they were near Laveto station, on the Rio Grande Railroad. Feared they have been killed by soldiers. If so, the Southern Utes will seek revenge. Will start for that agency at noon."

Nottage insisted on his right as a magistrate to be heard. [Loud applause] The Lord Mayor left the court amid loud groans, hisses and cries of "shame." Nottage—"The Lord Mayor has been pleased to say that he would scorn to take profit out of such indecent stuff." The Lord Mayor returning ordered the court to be cleared. A scene of wild confusion and tumult ensued. Nottage-"Should you decline to hear me, and you are supposed to be dispensing justice from that seat, I impeach you in the name of the citizens of London with having brought discredit on your office and with hav-ing violated the duty which belongs to that ancient chair." The court was then cleared amidst groans, cheers, hiss es and cries of "shame" and great uproar and excitement.

DECISIONSMAY NOT BE EXPECT 1 POR SOME TIME.

A Rod in Pickle for the Democrata-What the Republicans Propose Doing if they Can.

Baltimore Sun. 30th.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Gossip in legal circles is that decisions in the political cases recently argued before the Supreme Court may not be expected for some time. The impression seems to be that in any of the cases where the court can avoid rendering an opinion on the plea of want of jurisdiction it will do so. It is supposed that possibly this may be the fate of the Virginia cases. With regard to some of the cases, the court can promulgate a decision without trenching upon the question of the constitutionality of the election laws of Congress. The Maryland case is considered as the most complicated of all, and it has been held by some of the members of the bar that the court in considering this case must face the naked question of constitutionality. Other eminent members of the bar hold, however, that even in the Mary-land case the court may, if so disposed, give relief to the petitioners and still find a loophole to escape the discussion of this question. But there appears to be little if any dissent from the view that the court, if it is forced to decide upon the constitutionality of the elec-tion laws, will decide that question in the affirmative.

This is also the view held by members of the administration and others who are prominent in the Republican party. Hence there is significance in the remark just made by Secretary Sherman that as soon as the Republicans regain control of Congress they will enact additional and more stringent provisions with reference to the elective franchise. Perhaps they will bring forward again the notorious force bill which the Republicans came so near passing in the dying hours of the Forty-third Congress. Col. John C. Forty-third Congress. Col. Mr. Bruce apparently does not care to speak very is understood that this reticence of Mr. Bruce is caused by representations which have been made to him that he would injure Republican party pros-pects if he talked too much about the disclosures. There is reason to believe, however, that discoveries have recently been made of a startling character, and which implicate persons whose names have not heretofore been connected in a discreditable way with the affairs of the insti-

A Little Boy Burned to Death. Norfolk Virginian, 30th.

A little son of Mr. John Perry, who lives a short distance from Portsmouth on the Scott's Creek road, was fatally burned yesterday morning about 8 o'clock. It seems that the child, with its brother, a few years older, was left in the house alone together, and that the younger boy opened the stove door and taking out a coal of fire, took it to one corner of the room and commenced playing with it, and while engaged in this dangerous sport the little fellow's clothes ignited The child ran to the cradle, and his screams brought into the house Mr. Bunting, a neighbor, who found the boy in the bed enveloped in flames. The fire was extinguished immediately but the little sufferer died about an hour afterward in great agony. Dr. Vernon G. Culpepper of Portsmouth, reached the house about twenty-five minutes afterward, but the child was too severely burned to hope for its recovery; its body was charred all over and there was scarcely a spot of skin to be found. The flames had also been inhaled so that death was a great relief to the unfortunate little one.

A Northern View. Boston Herald. The reunion of survivors of the federal and confederate armies which was held a day or two since at Salisbury, N C., seems to have been a very successful affair, both in point of numbers and enthusiasm; the somewhat chilling let-ter from General Sherman, declining the invitation extended to him, being the only exception to the general good feeling displayed. North Carolina, like Tennessee, gave a large number of soldiers to the northern army during of the Blue Ridge mountains were almost to a man loval in their attachment to the Union, a feeling largely due to the fact that their social and industrial condition was such that they had little n common with the wealthy slaveholders in the eastern part of the State. A TRIP FROM OLD FORT TO CHARLESTON.

A Party of United States Enginee Examine the Catawba, Wateree and Santee Rivers.

Charleston News and Courier.

Congress at its last session appropriated $200,000 to be expended in an examination of certain rivers in the South for the purpose of learning whether or no they can be rendered navigable without disproportionate expense. The money appropriated is to be applied at the discretion of the engineer department. Captain Phillips, who has his headquarters at Norfolk, Va., is chief of surveys for the district including Virginia, North Carolina and a part of South Carolina. For the examination of the (atawba, Wateree and Santee rivers, forming one continuous stream, having its source among the mountains of Western North Carolina and emptying in the Atlantic Ocean on the coast of South Carolina, Captain Phillips appointed Mr. J. M. Wolbrect, a a civil engineer in the Government employ. Two months ago Mr. Wolbrect commenced his task, having as his as-sistants Messrs. C. DeWitt, F. F. Wol-brect, D. S. Ainsworth and A. M. Kirkland and five colored men They em-barked on the Catawba at Old Fort, McDowell county, North Carolina, near the source of the river. They were provided with three boats and a supply of provisions, cooking utensils and camp fixtures. They sounded the depth of the river, noted the fall of its bed, also the character of the bottom and the nature of obstructions and the course of the stream. At night they camped on on the banks. The river is mostly narrow, deep, rapid and obstructed with rocky shoals and rapids as well as mill-dams to a point called Lady Love Shoals, about six miles above Camden. Where there were mill-dams it was necessary to unload the boats and take the boats themselves out of the water and carry boats and contents past the dam and re-embark them on the river below. When there were shoals and rapids, however, only the contents of the boats were carried by land, and the engineers navi-gated the boats down the fall, or in boating parlance "shot the rapids." The fall of the river is in many places considerable, and where it passes be-tween Fairfield and Lancaster counties in a distance of eight miles, including Rocky Mount shoals and Catawba Falls the aggregate incline is one hundred and seventy-eight feet. Catawba Falls had never been safely passed and the negro boatmen declined to volunteer to take the boats over. There was no road to carry them round and over the falls they must go. It was warm weather, and not wishing to be delayed Mr. Wolbreet determined that with the would carry the boats over himself. The provisions, camp fixtures, clothing were sent through the woods etc., were sent through the woods by the negroes, and the white men stripped and undertook their perilous task. It was a venturesome feat, in at-tempting which life had been lost on several previous occasions, but they passed over in safety without inconvenience other than some rather rough washing. This was the principal inci-dent of the voyage. With it ended the first four weeks and by far the harder

In about five days they were at Camden, where they rested several days and left one of the men sick. In three more days they were at the bridge where the Wilmington, Columbia and Augusta railroad crosses the Wateree river. They had now entered the region of swamps, and were again compelled to halt on account of sickness and to send three of their party to Columbia. The remaining six men pressed on, and although Mr. Wolbrect himself was attacked with fever, as well as Mr. De-Witt, they fought it off with big doses of quinine, and in three days were at Wright's Bluff. Here they were glad to go into camp and to await the arrival of the steamer Clarendon. They em barked on the Clarendon on last Wed nesday and reached Charleston yester day morning. The steamer lay up every night so as to enable them to complete their work as far as she came down the river. Unfortunately for the party the steamer does not come out of the mouth of the Santee, but takes a small creek leading into Bull's Bay and thence to Charleston. Mr. Wolbrect has made arrangements, however, to go to the mouths of the Santee, and to be put with his boats in a small creek leading from the North Santee to Winvah Bay, which creek, it is thought, can be improved so as to make a safe entrance to the river. He will examine that creek, as well as the two mouths of the river, and hopes to be back in Charleston in a week. Mr. Wolbrect states (but not "officially") that the Santee and Wateree can easily be made navigable to Lady Love Shoals, six miles above Camden but that beyond that point the expense would probably be too great to make the improvement profitable. Mr. J. M. Wolbrect, the leader of the party, is a Missourian, who has been for several years in government employ, having washington as ins nome. He has surveyed several Western rivers, and last year surveyed the Trent and Neuse Rivers in North Carolina, and Nantook Creek in Virginia. He is apparently a young man, under thirty, robust and ruddy, as if he had never had a chill in his life, but one of his companions, who was with him when he was giving the above information, looked decidedly the worse for his encounter with the Erie Dispatch. a hand off al route In Tuesday morning's Dispatch there was a brief meution of the capture of a forty-one pound muscalonge the evening before by Mr. Merrick L. Low and Alderman Dieffenbach. It appears, further, that these fishermen had quite a time in landing their prize and that the adventure was a prolonged and exciting one. They were seated in a row boat in the vicinity of the Erie and Pittsburg Railroad dock, each man having out a fine, which he was holding with one hand and gently pulling an oar with the other hand. Aftermoying along in this manner for a short time, Mr. Low exclaimed excitedly; "I've got something!" and immediately betugging away at his line, "hand fist." "I have something, too," shouted the alderman, and he, too, squared away and began hauling in; and, as may be surmised, an exceedingly animated scene followed. Each man (and both are muscular by the way) appeared to have about all he cound do to manage his fish, to say nothing of keeping the boat steady, and it became reasonably certain that each had caught a young whale or some other fish of mammoth proportions. After the struggle had been kept up for a short time, Mr. Low caught sight of a short time, Mr. Low caught sight of the country and the country and alderman beheld a huge tail splashing and stirring the aqueous element into foam like the fans of a propeller-wheel. The excitement continued to increase, and as the monsters of the deep were brought nearer the boat it became apparent that but one fish had been "hooked on to." Mr. Low had first entrapped the muscalonge by a legiti-mate bite, and as the animal was danc-ing about, the alderman's hook caught into the fleshy part near the tail, and the two men thus tugged away in pull-ing the fish toward them in a broadside

The Southern Republicans.

New York World, 27th. A batch of office-seekers met one evening several weeks ago at Willard's and organized themselves into what they called the Southern Republican Association. As announced at the time in these dispatches their purpose was entirely selfish, for none of them were representative men and but few of them had lived away from Washington for years. For a few days the Republican papers gloated over them. Then the Times denounced them, and the other papers gradually fell into line with the Times. Since then the association has been the butt of Republican ridicule. With a keen and unexpected appreciation of the will of the machine organs, the association itself, realizing that it is the association itself, realizing that it is invulnerable to ridicule from others, has lately been trying to kill itself through the same agency. Here is a part of the report of the last meeting, held on Friday night:

The report was considered and when Missouri was reached some one proposed to insert the name of Stilson Hutchins or Carl Schurz. Mr. Green said he did not think they could obtain Schurz's services for less than $300 per night. When North Carolina was called Colonel McLinsey said that he was opsed to appointing men who, living within a stone's throw of the meeting, had never attended them. He wanted stalwarts, not Blaine nor Sherman men but those true to the principles of the party, and he moved that the name of Thomas B. Keogh be inserted in place of Colonel Rutherford (one of the origi-nators). Mr. Pelham defended Colonel Rutherford. After debate the name of Mr. Keogh was inserted. The name of Dr. Nagle, of South Carolina, was re-committed. When Virginia was called a motion was made to strike out the name of Dr. Jorgensen and insert the name of Dr. J. W. Waltz. There was a long debate, during which Dr. Waltz referred to his own services in Virginia, and said he was not like Forbes, of Richmond, who was introduced as a half Democrat, but he was a Radical Republican scalawag. The Day of the Month.

Washington Republican. The following couplet, committed to memory, affords an easy rule for ascer-taining without reference to an almanac on what day of the week any day of a month will fall:

At Dover Dwells George Brown, Esquire, Good Christian Friend, and David Friar." Explanation- The couplet contains twelve words, one for each month in order, beginning in January. The initial letter of each word corresponds with the letter in the calendar for the first of the month represented by the word. The key to the rule is the knowledge of the Sunday letter for the year, which this year is E. Example 1—On what day of the week did March 10 fall this year? Answer-D, the first letter of "Dwells" stands for March 1. But D is the letter or day before E—that is, D, the lst of March, was a Saturday. The calculation is instantaneous that March 16 was the third Sunday in the month. Example 2—On what day in the week will December 3 fail? F is December 1. But F is the day after E i. e., Monday, therefore December will be on a Wednesday. A. W.

A New Steamship Line. The steamship City of Pekin, which arrived at San Francisco Monday, brought news that the Chinese Mer chants' Steamship Company is about to place steamers on the route from China to the Sandwich Islands, to be followed by others to ply between the Islands and San Francisco. The Merchants' Company is composed of wealthy man-darins and merchants, the manager being Ton Ken Sing, a native of Singapore, said to be very rich and grasping, and speaks the English language fluently. Negotiations are in progress for commercial intercourse between China and the Sandwich Islands, but for no coolie trade, emigration to be wholly free. A Chinese journal, referring to American hostility to the Chinese, says the only way to insure good treatment on the voyage is to send their emigrants out in Chinese vessels.

IS SHE TWENTY-ONE?

ALMOST BUT NOT QUITE A MAR-LNAGE.

What a North Carolina Merchant would Swear to and then Backed Down-A Trip Extended.

Richmond State, 29th. Yesterday about 2 o'clock a young ady, accompanied by four gentlemen, came into the office of Mr. Andrewat Jinkins, the clerk of the Hustings court. Mr. Jinkins was seated at the desk. All the parties were smiling, and it was evident that they came on a pleasant mission. One gentleman spoke up and said he wanted a marriage license. Mr. Jinkins began to ask the usual questions. "What is your name, sir?" he inquired of the would-be bridegroom. "Marx Morse," replied the gentleman. "The name of the lady ?" "Katie Eicl berg," the young lady responded. The gentleman who appeared to be the friend of the couple gave his name as William Weinberg, of Hamilton, N. C. He was a young man and had a smiling face. Under the law a disinterested face. Under the law a disinterested party must swear that the lady is twenty-one years of age and a resident of the city of Richmond. Mr. Weinberg said he wouldswear that the young lady had been residing in Richmond for the last two weeks. Her family lived in Petersburg, he said. "Well," sir, "can you swear that she is twenty-one years of age?" Mr. Weinberg looked at the young lady and said, "Yes, I will swear that she is twenty-one years old." The lady spoke up and said, "Yes, I am twenty-one." "Well, if you say so I know you are," said Mr. Weinberg. Mr. Weinberg then took the pen in his hand and prepared to sign the certificate to the effect that the sign the certificate to the effect that the young lady was twenty-one years of age and a resident of Richmond. Mr. Jinkins warned him that he, a merchant of Hamilton, N. C., was swearing that he knew Miss Katie Eichberg was twenty-one years of age and a resident of Richmond. The gen-tleman threw down the pen with a look of alarm, and said, "Look here, if this thing will get me in trouble I don't mean to have anything to do with it."

Mr. Jinkins told him if it turned out afterward that the lady was not twenty-one and a resident of Richmond he one and a resident of Richmond he would be amenable to the charge of perjury. Mr. Weinberg said, shaking his head, "Well, I can't sign the paper; I believe the lady is twenty-one, I have known her a long time, but I won't sign that paper." The parties looked very much disappointed, and the young lady spoke up and said, "Why ain't my word enough for it?" "No," said the clerk, "you are not a disinterested party." "Then I will bring somebody that knows I am twenty-one," said the lady, and they left.

She stated that she was a daughter of Mr. Eichburg, formerly a member of the firm of Eichburg & Schaap, but now living in Petersburg.

This morning a gentleman came into Mr. Jinkins's office, and asked that gentleman if a lady from Petersburg had been there to get a marriage license. Mr. Jinkins told him of Miss Katie Eichberg, and her attempt to get a license from him. He told the gen-tleman that the difficulty in the way of her getting a license was that no disinterested witness would swear that she was twenty-one and a resident of Richmond. The Petersburger then informed Mr. Jinkins that the lady was not a resident of Richmond, but lived in Petersburg, and that while her father was in Cincinnati, the couple took advantage of his absence and ran off to Richmond to get married.

Nothing further has been heard of them, and it is supposed that they have gone to Washington, as they could not get a license here.

The sheep and cattle departments are full, and, as noticed yesterday, were never better in any preceding year.

The side show men, yenders of patent medicine and the blind and lame mendicants, whose absence were sadly missed yesterday, were on hand to-day -to be sure, not in such force as the visitor has been accustomed to in former years, but in sufficient numbers to add spiciness to the exhibition.

To-day detachments from several military companies have arrived from various portions of the S'ate, to participate in the contest for the prize to be awarded to-morrow to the best drilled military company on the grounds. This will be the feature of the exhibition to-morrow, and will probably at-tract many of the city people, who failed to attend to-day. None of the companies of the First regiment will take part on account of the fact that the Association required the members to pay an entrance fee to the grounds, or reduce the amount offered as prizes. The contestants will be the military from other cities, and the colored soldiers here and of Man-To-morrow's attractions may draw a larger crowd, but it is supposed that all of those at a distance who propose to attend have arrived.

The Amazon is one thousand six bundred tons burden, and loaded with eight hundred and seventy tons of flour and merchandise. It will be a total loss. The Amazon was one of the largest GENERAL GRANT proposes to visit Florida this winter. Is it for the purpose of visiting Judge Settle and "fixing up" the ticket?

ATTENTION is called to the article in another column, under the caption of "Reduce the Taxes," taken from the New York World. It contains many important truths, and will commend itself to the thinking redder.

THE two fairs-Washington and Richmond-seem to have both started out with unfinished buildings. Whether or no this is to furnish groundwork for excuses for poor exhibits we cannot tell; but it seems a poor way to manage things and does no honor to the managers.

THE official vote of California, as announced in the San Francisco papers, gives Mr. Perkins, the Republican candidate, 67,965 out of a total vote of 161,405. The anti-Republican vote, divided between Glenn, Democrat, and " Honorable Bilks," and White, Workingman, was 94,440. The vote in favor of Chinese immigration was 883, and the vote against it was 154,438.

MR. ROBERT BONNER, of New York Ledger fame, has a hobby, and that hobby is a horse. For years he has been purchasing all the "flyers" that he could obtain, paying fancy prices for them. Recently he paid $36,000 for Rarus. Since then a California horse has beaten Rarus' time and he will probably go for the new wonder. But Mr. Bonner says his stables are overstocked, and he is therefore under the necessity of disposing of a few. Accordingly he advertises eighty-seven horses, with records ranging from 2:24 to 3:00, for sale by auction. This will undoubtedly be the big horse event of the season.

NEW YORK is not much of a State for professional jurors; the pay is ridiculously small, and besides the juror drawn on grand and petit juries must be a freeholder, who most generally evinces a strong dislike to leave his business and loaf around for a fortnight at the rate of a dollar a day. But all rules have exceptions, and here is one. A case was recently tried in the Brooklyn City Court, and now there is an application to set the verdict aside on the ground that one of the jurors impaneled was not present, an unknown man taking his place and answering to his name. Of course there must have been collusion in the case and money at the bottom of it.

THE New York Star says: "Our advices indicate that the Democratic State ticket, with the exception o. Robinson, will be elected by a significant majority next Tuesday. The vigor imparted to the canvass by the revolt against Tildenism is evident in every section of the State. When the fight is fought and won, thousands who were misled by the blandishments of the bar'l will thank John Kelly and Tammany Hall for having stirred up the animals so effectually." This shows that the Star is more against Governor Robinson than Mr. Tilden, after all, as Mr. Potter is a trusted friend of Mr. Tilden's. As we said some weeks ago, the Star is looking after the spoils to come from a Tammany victory.

THE amount of news matter furnished from the different sections of the country is of very little account. Pistols do not appear to any great extent, owing probably to the scarcity of voters in several States and who are wanted for next Tuesday. The State press is without incident, and were it not for an occasional frost or marriage last week's forms would do for this. Virginia is excited over the fight on the State debt, and the Richmond papers are filled to overflowing with personal flings and lengthy arguments; Georgia is excited over the State and Atlanta Fairs; Boston ditto over the Butler campaign; Chicago turns out three or four newspaper columns of robberies and attempted murders daily; but all these are not of a nature to interest our readers. The New York election is the only interesting political matter, and that would amount to nothing were not a national significance attached thereto. Next week, however, all this will end, and interesting news make its appearance once more. Till then our readers must have patience.

On Tuesday evening the regular Democrats held a rousing meeting in New York, at which the issues depending were well set forth and well received. But perhaps the most striking of the many addresses made was that of the "old war horse," Captain Isaiah Rynders. Chairman McKeon said he had introduced many good men and he had one to close up with who, like himself, had been an old trainer under Tammany. Then Captain Rynders stood up without further mention. Everybody knew him and three cheers were started from many points of the hall.

I've many times found it necessary to take off my coat when addressing the Democrats, but I'm never so much in earnest as I am now, though I don't take off my coat, the old man began. I was ar old Democrat and I'll vote the real and genuine Democratic ticket as I have every year since I voted for General Jackson in 1828, and when Kelly went walking into the Black Re-publican camp I did not care to follow him. I went to Syracuse with him and I came away from there with him, and I hoped for a long time that he would yet conclude to regain his senses, but he went on and I could follow him no longer. I would have gone over Nia-gara with him if it had served a good purpose to do so, but I was not ready to see the Democracy stabbed in the back. I told John Kelly that if he was back. I told John Kelly that if he was willing to do the dirty deed I was not an assassin and did not propose to have anything to do with those who were such. (A voice—"Oh, he'll come round again.") Well, if he does get back into his right senses again he'll have to be a Democrat and not a boss. He has lost his prestige. He threw off the charm and the mantle of regularity, and now he is neither fish nor fowl, neither pig nor dog. He may run now and find it pleasant to make a noise on money which is supplied him by A. B. Cornell, he is neither fish nor fowl, neither pig nor dog. He may run now and find it pleasant to make a noise on money which is supplied him by A. B. SOUTHERN IMPROVEMENTS.

On the first page will be found a short sketch of a trip made by United States officials down the Catawba, Wateree and Santee rivers, for the purpose of GEO. C. JORDAN, Editor and Prop'r. ascertaining whether or no they can be ascertaining whether or no they can be rendered navigable without disproportionate expense. The party embarked at Old Fort in McDowell county, near at Old Fort, in McDowell county, near the source of the river, and finally brought up at Wright's Bluff, somewhere about a hundred miles from the Atlantic, where they had to suspend operations on account of sickness.

Congress at its last session appropriated $200,000 for the examination of these and other rivers in the Southern States. So far as this special survey stands, Captain Wolbrect, the officer in charge, states that it will not pay to improve the Catawba at all and the Santee and Wateree only to Lady Love Shoals, six miles above Camden.

In former times these rivers were undoubtedly navigable, the same as many others; but the constantly forming shoals, with the yearly increase of silt and sand, would take a large appropriation in addition to the first cost of the dredging, and it is not to be supposed that there would be sufficient commerce on the upper end of the stream to make it profitable or to even aid in developing the resources of the western counties of the State in proportion to the outlay.

It is altogether different with the Neuse and Trent. Once cleared but little trouble will be experienced in keeping these streams navigable, and free navigation will prove of real benefit to the planters along those streams. developing a large trade that will increase from year to year as facilities of easy transportation become apparent.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Mr. A. H. Stephens is now at home and in good health, resting after his travels, which have taken him to hearty welcomes throughout the country. General Butler, who hates Senator Hoar, said in a speech about the fishery awards that the Senator does not know a mackerel from a sculpin. Senator McDonald says that Senator Thurman was dragooned against his better judgment into a support of the soft-money principle. Daniel Campbell, greenbacker, was defeated as his party's candidate for Go ernor of Iowa at the late election, but succeeded in being elected road supervisor in his town. The law passed by the Ohio Legislature last winter to punish the bribery of voters seems to be taking effect in some parts of the State, and the enjoyment of a few of the victors has been cruelly interrupted by indictments for Only about a thousand torches have been sold for political purposes in Boston this year as compared with ten thousand sold a year ago. The prices for torches are higher, owing to the advance in the cost of tin and brass. A dispatch from Detroit to the New York Tribune says: "There is a Chnadler boom now in Michigan, which rasincreased its momentum wonderfully of late. Senator Chandler is about who shipped among the farmers and people generally of the State, and if he should be nominated for the Presidency, Michigan would give him the largest majority she has ever bestowed upon any

The New York Times recommends Republicans to vote for the anti-Tammany local ticket. Commenting on this the New York Commercial Advertiser says: "We wish the Times no harm, but like a wayward, undutiful and ungrateful child, it deserves to lose its "We wish the Times no harm, sweetmeats," in other words, Republican patronage.

The Springfield Republican says of the Republican canvass in Massachu-setts: "The cowardice of the State central committee in inviting Zach Chandler upon the stump and still re-fusing to ask George William Curtis, is having a disheartening effect.'

Reduce the Taxes!

New York World. If Secretary Sherman has found any leisure from stump-speaking lately to attend to the business of his department even casually, he must have observed that the revival of business activity is beginning to make itself felt in the public revenues. Estimates from Washington state the surplus of this month now closing at the large sum of six millions of dollars, and each suceeding month hereafter is expected to yield much more than the authorized expenditure. This is very gratifying. It does not particularly confirm the stalwart stories of an impending civil war, but it needs to be turned to proper account. This growing surplus should be used, not in reducing the public debt, but in reducing the taxes. The purchases already made of United States bonds for the sinking fund are at least five years in advance of the requirements of the law. Let Congress, then it meets in December, ascertain the precise figures from the Treasury, and then declare the sinking fund full to the date which those figures shall warrant. What the country now needs is a reduction of taxation to the full extent of the estimated surplus revenue. The credit of the country, as nobody believes at home or abroad the rawhead and bloody-bones tales of the stalwarts, is more than good, and there will be no difficulty in renewing at lower rates of interest the six and five per cent. bonds which are redeemable in 1881. Let this be done and by the time that fresh payments into the sinking fund becomes legally due, five or six years hence, the increased population and trade of the country, as there is no dan-ger that we shall be torn and bled by a new civil war, will prove the means for making those payments comfortable upon a reduced scale of taxation. At least thirty-five millions of dollars may be and ought to be struck off from the taxes at once, on account of this year's contribution to the sinking fund already long ago made. With this let as much more be struck off as the increasing revenues shall be seen to permit when Congress assembles. The taxpaying people of the country are enti-tled to present relief out of the present surplus in the revenues, and Heaven knows that our customs tariff and our internal revenue system offer abundant chances for a rational reduction of the people's burdens. Here is matter of people's burdens. Here is matter of real public interest for the Secretary of the Treasury to deal with to-night in his New York speech. He has only to examine the records of his own department to learn, if he does not already know, that the taxes can be largely re-duced with percet safety to the public honor and interest.

A National Agricultural Society. A number of gentleman who are personally interested in promoting the business of agriculture held a meeting at the Cooper Union, New York, on Wednesday last, to discuss the advisability of a catalliability bility of re-establishing a national agricultural society on the model of the one which came to an end at the beginning of the civil war. Among those present were Colonel Victor E. Piollette, president of the State Grange of Pennsylva-nia, who took the chair and delivered

It is proposed, among other things, that the society shall establish a bureau in New York to confer with the com-missioners of immigration, and so help to open currents of immigration to those districts where immigrants are most needed. It is doubtful, however, whether such a bureau would accomplish much good. Nearly all the immigrants who arrive on our shores have settled their point of destination before they leave their native land. State agents and the agents of steam-ship lines abroad furnished some with the intormation they require; while others, and these the greater part, go to join their friends and countrymen already settled in this country. Of the three streams of immigrants, the English take more kindly to the South, the Irish to the Middle States, and the Germans to the West, and if any of these streams are to be deflected into other channels, it must be by sending agents to those countries from which the bulk of our immigrants is derived. But a national agricultural society, if it were well organized, might do great good in many directions, and not the least of these would be in the collection and distribution of statistics in relation to the soil and climate of the different States, the crops best adapted to them, the average yield, the prices obtained at the nearest points to a market, and the cost of transportation to the great centers of population and to the seaboard.

English women are the wisest and most sensible of their sex in the matter of dress. They have distinctive costumes for different occasions, and for out-of-door wear adopt the plainest and most durable of articles.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., June 26, 1878. H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON.

DEAR SIR:—I have for years been a sufferer from a dreadful CANCER in my side which caused me untold agony, and as I am a widow with a family dependent upon my exertions for a support, my pain of body was only equalled by my pain of mind, at seeing my children want for bread. I was presented by a kind friend in Cincinnati with halfa dozen bottles of Vegetine, and although one bottle is still untouched, behold me a well woman, completely restored in body and mind, and able to perform my accustomed duties. Long may you live! and may the history of my wonderful cure lead other like sufferers to purchase your valuable medicine, if it is with the last cent they possess. I. R. STEVENS, BOSTON.

I have been suffering for 25 years with the Piles and found but little relief from any Piles and found but little relief from any medicine that I have taken for many years past. Last winter I suffered c ansiderably worse than ever before, also in connection with Rheumatism I was confined to my bed for several weeks. Having procured a bottle of Vegetine I took it with good effect. I continued the use, and after taking four or five bottles, find myself comparatively cured. I can cheerfully recommend it for the benefits that I have received from it.

H. R STEVENS, BOSTON: H. R STEVENS, BOSTON:

I take great pleasure in recommending your Vegetine. I have been suffering for a long time with the Lung Disease; trying every kind of medicine that I could get, but none seemed to do me any good, until I tried your great Vegetine remedy. I had used it only a short time before I could discover a very great change in my health for the better. I don't consider that your medicine has its equal, for the diseases which you propose to cure, especially the disease that I have been afflicted with JOHN THOMAS.

SALT RHEUM. Life a burden from the sufferings caused by this terrible disease.

MESSES, WEEKS & POTTER—Gentlemen: Please accept my most grateful thanks for the great, very great, comfort I have re-ceived from the see of your CUTICURA. For the past eight or nine years I have been troubled with that dreadful disease, Salt Rheum, For months I would be helpless,—my very life a burden to me.

I have used everything in the shape of medicine, both external and internal, but medicine, both external and internal, but with no effect.

My hands were in a terrible condition, the backs of them being all raw, and I thought I would try Cuticura.

I tried it, and lot it was as if a miracle had been performed, for I will take my oath that in three applications my hands were as smooth as a new-born babe's.

I presume there are hundreds, if not thousands, who know of my case, among whom there may be some one similarly afflicted, and if so I would earnestly advise him to give Cuticura a trial.

Yours, very thankfully,

Returned.

After an absence of some six weeks Mr. W. H. Crow and wife have returned to their home in this city. They have made an extended trip through the western part of the State, and come back filled with a realistic sense of the wonders and beauties to be seen along the mountain tier of counties. The places visited would take too much time to enumerate—suffice it to say that every point of interest came within the scope of their observation. The gentleman and lady have experi-enced good health during their absence and have inhaled ozone enough to engthen their lease of life.

Book Notice. Mrs. T. B. H. Stenhouse has written a book entitled "Tell It All. A Wo-man's Life in Polygamy." The author gives a complete expose of the secret history, manner and extraordinary do-ings of the Mormons. It tells how she vas converted to Mormonism-how her daughter became the fourth wife of Brigham Young's eldest son; how her husband entered into polygamy, wooed and won his other wives. It tells all about Brigham Young and each one of his nineteen wives—first wives, proxy wives, plural wives, and "fixins." It tells all about Salt Lake City and the "Stakes" of Zion as well as a true ac-count of the Danites, Avenging Angels and Secret Police. It tells about the Mountain Meadows massacre, for which Bishop J. Doyle Lee was executed twenty years afterward. It tells about his last moments on earth, his dying speech made while the executioners' rifles were pointed at his body. There are many things that we have not time and space to notice. It is published by A. D. Worthington & Company, Hartford, Conn. They want good agents.
